

Matthew P. Cheng, MDCM, FRCPC

Dr. Cheng completed medical school at McGill University in 2011. He then pursued specialty training in Internal Medicine at the University of British Columbia and is now a fellow of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada, as well as a Diplomat of the American Board of Internal Medicine.

Dr. Cheng is currently the chief Infectious Diseases and Medical Microbiology resident at McGill University. In addition to his clinical duties, he is actively involved in medical education and teaches both at the undergraduate and graduate degree level.

His academic interests include translational research in sepsis and infections in the immune compromised host. He remains invested in local philanthropic activities. Dr. Cheng is the recipient of the Terry Fox Humanitarian Award.

SUBJECT MATTER EXPERT

Humanitarian Healthcare Provider Program

